DESCRIPTION AND ASSUMPTIONS

STATE DESCRIPTION - LOUISIANA

The state of Louisiana consists of 64 parishes and has a total population of 4,523,574. With a total land area of 44,521 square miles (115,310 square kilometers), the state is relatively densely populated, at an average of 101.6 persons per square mile (36.5 per square kilometer)as compared to the national average of 63.9 persons per square mile. According to the 1980 federal census, Louisiana was the nineteenth most populous state in the country. Louisiana is a comparatively "young" state; the median age in 1980 was 27.3 years.

The state is located in the extreme south central part of the United States, bounded on the west by Texas, on the north by Arkansas, on the east and northeast by Mississippi and on the south by the Gulf of Mexico. The climate of Louisiana is determined mainly by the huge land mass to the north, its subtropical latitude, and the Gulf of Mexico to the south. Summertime temperatures range from 85 degrees F. to 95 degrees F. during afternoons and 65 degrees F. to 75 degrees F. in the early mornings. Average winter temperatures range from 55 degrees F. to 65 degrees F. in the afternoons to 40 degrees F. to 50 degrees F. during early morning hours, although higher and lower readings are often observed. Freezing temperatures are recorded on 30 to 40 days in North and Central Louisiana during an average year and on 10 to 35 days in the southern parishes. The annual average precipitation in Louisiana for 1980 was 57.56 inches.

The four most heavily populated parishes in the state are Orleans, Jefferson, East Baton Rouge, and Caddo. Besides being the most populous, Orleans is also the most urbanized (99.9 percent in 1980), the most densely populated (2,821.8 persons per square mile), and the second smallest in land area (199 square miles). The smallest parish in land area is West Baton Rouge, with 194 square miles; the largest is Cameron with 1,417 square miles. Assumption parish has the largest percent of ruralized population (85.7 percent of the population lives outside urban centers).

Louisiana blends a wealth of historic charm, rich natural resources, and giant modern industries. Fertile soil, adequate rainfall, temperate climate, an ample and adaptable labor force, navigable waterways and excellent highway systems are factors basic to the state's wealth.

The southern section of Louisiana has many coastal marshes, bayous and generally low and flat terrain. The central portion is characterized by flat delta land suitable for agriculture. The northern part of the state is higher, with rolling hills and valleys. This variety of land types encourages an equally wide variety of both agricultural and industrial pursuits. The proximity of the state to the Gulf of Mexico and its strategic location at the mouth of the Mississippi River provide the necessary entrance and egress for worldwide commerce.

LOUISIANA BACKGROUND AND ASSUMPTIONS

Louisiana's unemployment rate in 1984 averaged 10.0 percent, a drop of 1.8 percent from the average for 1983 (11.8 percent), and higher than the 7.4 percent unemployment recorded nationwide for 1984.

Nonagricultural wage and salary employment showed a total gain of 31,500 workers during 1984. The greatest gain occurred in retail trade, mainly in eating and drinking places and other retail trades. Employment in trade increased by 11,300 during the year. Services also showed an increase of 7,500 workers. Mainly local government increased by 5,600 workers.

Construction showed a healthy gain of 3,600 workers, and durable goods manufacturing increased by 3,200 workers. This was somewhat offset by a loss of workers in non-durable manufacturing by 2,300, mainly in food products and chemicals.

Most industrial categories showed some gains during the year, with only a few showing moderate losses.

The average weekly wage paid in manufacturing industries increased from $391.60 in 1983 to $418.50 in 1984. The average weekly wage paid in the fabricated metal products industries decreased by $1.28 during 1984. All the other industries showed increases in weekly wages.

Effective January 1, 1985 some changes have been made in the composition of some labor market areas, and one new labor market area has been recognized, Houma-Thibodaux, consisting of Lafourche and Terrebonne Parishes. The Alexandria area is now composed of Rapides Parish only. The Lafayette area has added St. Martin Parish to Lafayette Parish. The Shreveport area is now composed of Bossier and Caddo Parishes only. The New Orleans area has added St. Charles and St. John Parishes to make its composition now Jefferson, Orleans, St. Bernard, St. Charles, St. John, and St. Tammany.

Only two labor market areas, Houma-Thibodaux and Lake Charles, had an unemployment rate in excess of 10.0 percent. All of the parishes and labor market areas in the state showed a drop in unemployment rate during 1984 except St. Charles and St. James parishes. The decreases ranged from 0.3 percent in Madison Parish to 5.2 percent in Franklin Parish. Although there have been some incidences of plant closings, the overall labor market in Louisiana is still sound.

SECTION II

POPULATION CHANGES

POPULATION CHANGES IN LOUISIANA

1980 - 1984

From 1980 to 1984 Louisiana's population has been growing and polarizing. Three parishes in the southeastern part of the state indicate increases of over 20 percent. Two of these, St. Tammany (25.9 percent) and St. John (21.6 percent) are within the new conformation of the New Orleans MSA. Although Orleans Parish itself shows the second least increase (0.7 percent), this area is the hub of significant trade and industrial growth and activities, drawing in workers, who become residents, from within and out of the state. The other parishes in this area also show population gains.

Livingston Parish, with the third greatest population gain (21.1 percent), is part of the Baton Rouge MSA. The other parishes in this area also show significant growth. It is very probable that in spite of some industrial slowdown this part of the state has enough labor activity to attract workers from other, more labor-depressed areas of the country.

Lafayette Parish, another hub of activity, in the heart of French Louisiana, showed an increase of 17.3 percent. St. Martin Parish, with an increase of 13.0 percent, has been added to the Lafayette MSA.

A new and growing metropolitan area in south Louisiana is the Houma-Thibodaux MSA, which includes Terrebonne and Lafourche Parishes. These show a population increase of 10.7 percent and 9.1 percent, respectively. Between this area and the Lafayette MSA is the Atchafalaya River and swamp. Highway connections between these two are not direct. However, travel between the two by air or water is quite convenient.

Only three parishes have shown a population loss since 1980. Tensas Parish (-4.5 percent) and East Carroll Parish (-1.9 percent) are in the rich Mississippi delta area of northeastern Louisiana. This is good farmland, but this area remains rural, and farming efforts often suffer from the vagaries of weather.

Bienville Parish, in north central Louisiana showed a very slight population loss (-0.2 percent) since 1980. This area is also rural, with little industrial activity and poorer farming potential.

The Shreveport MSA, now consisting of Caddo and Bossier Parishes only, showed modest population gains (Caddo 4.7 percent, and Bossier 12.1 percent). The Alexandria MSA, now consisting of only Rapides Parish showed a gain of just 4.0 percent, and Ouachita Parish 4.8 percent gain. Calcasieu Parish gained by 7.2 percent.

Vernon and Sabine Parishes showed gains of 13.4 percent and 11.7 percent respectively, possibly because of the growing popularity of the large reservoir lake, Toledo Bend, formed from the Sabine River, on the border with Texas. This has generated tourist activity. Vernon Parish also has an army post, Fort Polk, which adds to its population.

The overall population growth for the state since 1980 was 12.4 percent. This would indicate the state still has very significant growth potential.

Parishes with a population in excess of 100,000 for 1984, with their largest cities indicated, are listed below:

Orleans Parish	(New Orleans)	561,541
Jefferson Parish	(Metairie)	497,177
East Baton Rouge Parish	(Baton Rouge)	401,891
Caddo Parish	(Shreveport)	264,132
Calcasieu Parish	(Lake Charles)	179,263
Lafayette Parish	(Lafayette)	175,962

Rapides Parish	(Alexandria)	140,722
St. Tammany Parish	(Slidell)	139,533
Terrebonne	(Houma)	104,505

The total population of the state for 1984 is projected at 4,523,574.

The average annual growth rate of TPI over the past 10 years was 12.0 percent, more than the national average (10.0 percent).

Total personal income (TPI) includes the earnings (wages and salaries, other labor income, and proprietors' income); dividends, interest, and rent; and transfer payments received by the residents of Louisiana. In 1983, earnings were 68.7 percent of TPI (compared with 75.7 percent in 1973); dividends, interest, and rent were 17.0 percent (compared with 12.0 percent in 1973); and transfer payments were 14.3 percent (compared with 12.4 percent in 1973). From 1973 to 1983, earnings increased on average 11.0 percent each year; dividends, interest, and rent increased on average 16.0 percent; and transfer payments increased on average 13.7 percent.

Earnings of persons employed in Louisiana increased from $11,594,843* in 1973 to $33,218,851* in 1983, an average annual growth rate of 11.1 percent. The largest industries in 1983 were services, which accounted for 18.5 percent of earnings; state and local government, 12.7 percent; retail trade, 9.9 percent; and transportation and public utilities, 9.8 percent. In 1973, the largest industries were services, with 14.7 percent of earnings; state and local government, 12.7 percent; retail trade, 10.8 percent; non-durable goods manufacturing, 9.7 percent; and transportation and public utilities, 9.6 percent. Of the industries that accounted for at least 5 percent of earnings in 1983, the slowest growing from 1973 to 1983 was durable goods manufacturing (6.0 percent of earnings in 1983), which increased at an average annual rate of 9.0 percent; the fastest was mining (8.0 percent of earnings in 1983), which increased at an average annual rate of 15.4 percent.

CONSUMER PRICE INDEX

The Consumer Price Index, sometimes called the "Cost of Living Index" is a monthly measure of the average change in prices in a fixed quantity of goods and services. Prices are gathered from 85 areas across the country. The year 1967 is used as the base period. While the CPI may provide a broad outline of price fluctuations, it cannot reflect individual buying trends or regional experiences.

SECTION XI

EXPLANATORY NOTES

EXPLANATORY MATERIAL

The information presented in this document was compiled by the LA Department of Labor, affilated with the U. S. Department of Labor.

An explanation of some of the terminology used in this report follows:

LABOR AREA: A labor area is a geographical area consisting of a central city or cities and the surrounding territory in which there is a concentration of economic activity and in which workers can usually change jobs without changing their residence.

CIVILIAN LABOR FORCE: The civilian labor force represents the sum of the employed (exclusive of the Armed Forces), the unemployed, and persons involved in labor-management disputes.

EMPLOYMENT: Employment estimates are developed mainly from a sample of establishments which report regularly on their employment. These estimates are periodically compared with comprehensive data on employment obtained from tax records, which provide benchmarks for the various non-agricultural industries. Appropriate adjustments are made as needed.

NONAGRICULTRUAL WAGE AND SALARY EMPLOYMENT: Nonagricultural Wage & Salary employment refers only to employees on establishment payrolls during the sample week in each month (this week always includes the 12th of the month) and excludes self-employed, unpaid family workers, and workers involved in labor-management disputes.

ALL OTHER NONAGRICULTURAL EMPLOYMENT: This category includes persons who work in non-farm industries who are not reported on payrolls, duch as self employed workers, domestic workers in private households, and unpaid family workers.

UNEMPLOYMENT: Unemployment data included in this report are concepturally comparable with those released by the United States Department of Labor each month for the country as a whole. The unemployment estimates include all workers not at work but actually seeking work. Unemployed workers are counted by their place of residence. The unemployment rate represents the number of unemployed as a per cent of the civilian labor force.

APPLICANTS: Applicants are individuals who are registered with the local Job Service Office and are reasonally representative of the available worker supply in most occupational categories and for most sections of the area.

PLACEMENTS: Placements occur when a local Job Service Office, which has an employer job order, refers a qualified applicant to the employer and verifies the fact that the applicant has been hired by the employer.

SECTION XII

JOB TRAINING PARTNERSHIP ACT

JOB TRAINING PARTNERSHIP ACT

The Job Training Partnership Act (Public Law 97-300-Oct 13, 1982) is replacing the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 as the nation's major employment incentive program. The purpose of this Act is to establish programs to prepare youth and unskilled adults for entry into the labor force and to afford job training to those economically disadvantaged individuals and other individuals facing serious barriers to employment, who are in special need of such training to obtain productive employment.

Under the Job Training Partnership Act, many responsibilities formerly carried out by the Federal Government devolve to States and local labor markets. The Governor has approval authority over locally-developed plans, and is responsible for monitoring local program compliance with the Act. In addition, a new public/private partnership is created to plan and design training programs as well as to deliver training and other services.

SERVICE DELIVERY AREAS, designated by the governor, based upon recommendations of the State Job Training Coordinating Council, will deliver services under the Act. Seventeen of these areas which include the entire state, have been designated in Louisiana. Planning functions of both the Governor's representatives and the service delivery areas will require considerable statistical information including the characteristics of populations in the respective areas.

In the case of labor force data, unrounded figures have been shown since allocation procedures require their use rather than the normally published rounded information.
